

Submission Site Instructions

The ISEMG2010 submission site is ready for abstract submissions. Once you have prepared your abstract for ISEMG2010 conference, you must create an account on our open conferences systems page. Following the link at the end of these instructions will take you to a login page, where you can register for a user account. You must register before you can proceed. Registration requires filling in a few brief fields on the web form. Please use mixed case (upper and lower case) when completing this form. Please include your initials and affiliation. Do not include your signature. Your e-mail address is required. If you include a URL back to your home page, a link will appear by your abstract.

Step One: Starting the Submission Process

Once you have logged in, you will need to begin step one of the submission process. Begin by selecting the "Abstract Submission) link, then select Step One of the Submission Process. First step includes the "Copyright Notice" & "Comment for Conference Director" (If any...). You must agree to the copyright notice. This notice is identical to the copyright form that you must sign and return to ISEMG2010. When you have completed this step, you must select Save and Continue to move on to Step 2.

Step 1. Starting the Submission

1. START 2. ENTER METADATA 3. UPLOAD SUBMISSION 4. CONFIRMATION

Conference Session

Select the appropriate session for this submission (see Session Policies).

Session*

A dropdown menu with a downward arrow icon. The menu is open, showing three options: "Please select a session...", "Oral", and "Poster". The "Oral" option is currently selected and highlighted in blue.

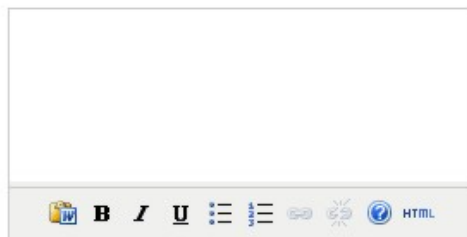

Copyright Notice

Authors who submit to this conference agree to the following terms:

- a) Authors retain copyright over their work, while allowing the conference to place this unpublished work under a Creative Commons Attribution License, which allows others to freely access, use, and share the work, with an acknowledgement of the work's authorship and its initial presentation at this conference.
- b) Authors are able to waive the terms of the CC license and enter into separate, additional contractual arrangements for the non-exclusive distribution and subsequent publication of this work (e.g., publish a revised version in a journal, post it to an institutional repository or publish it in a book), with an acknowledgement of its initial presentation at this conference.
- c) In addition, authors are encouraged to post and share their work online (e.g., in institutional repositories or on their website) at any point before and after the conference.

Comments for Conference Director

Step Two: Entering Your Metadata

In step 2, information about you is automatically pulled from your user account. In the bio statement field, please put your title (e.g. Assistant Professor or Graduate Student), hit return, and then type the name of your department if any. Do not include your affiliation here – that should appear in the affiliation field. It is important for site statistics that you indicate the country. You can speed up the scroll by typing the first few letters of your country, and then navigating to the appropriate selection.

Using the Add author button, you may add authors to your abstract. If you don't add them, they won't get publication credit. You must know the e-mail address of the additional authors. Please note that, while all authors should be listed, you will be the only author with access to the abstract. If you want to change the order of the listed authors, use the up and down arrows in the meta data screen. Only one author per abstract should register and submit. Multiple submissions of the same abstract by different authors will incur significant special handling fees and may result in the exclusion of your abstract altogether.

Next, if the list appears (not applicable to all conferences), specify the type of submission. Choose Single Presentation.

Now you should specify the title and abstract. The title must be typed in mixed case – not all lower case. If you are cutting and pasting your abstract, click on the "W" logo below the box and paste your abstract in the pop-up box that appears. (If you don't do this, your abstract may contain hidden control characters that will cancel your submission later on.) Once it has been inserted, you may edit your abstract using the B (bold), I (italic) U (underline) and list buttons underneath the abstract box. If you are comfortable using raw html, you may use the HTML window instead. (If you use raw html, do not include links in your abstract, as this will void your submission.)

Next, if the box appears, add any preferred indexing terms (not applicable to all conferences), and finally, enter any supporting agencies that provided funding for your research. The conference language is English, so please do not change the "Language" section.

When you have completed this stage, select Save and Continue to move on to Step 3.

Revisions

You may stop the submission process at any of the steps (your work will be saved and you can go back and finish the submission later), but once you have submitted your abstract, you may not delete or revise it. However, if the submission deadline has not passed, and you have discovered a grievous error that must be correct, you may upload a new, revised compressed archive as a new supplementary file. Please name this new supplementary file with your abstract title, followed by the words "Revised Compressed Archive." Be sure the revised archive includes a new word file. We will use this revised version when creating the proceedings. You may upload only one revision.
